

TELEPHONE WAR MAY BE SETTLED BY SOLONS

Bill Forcing Inter-Change
Of Calls Would Settle Our
Troubles

Citizens User Could Call
For Friend Over Bell Exchange

If a bill which is to be introduced in the House of Representatives by Adam Oberlin, of Stark county, passes, Coshocton's much mooted telephone question will be settled to the satisfaction of many who object to supporting two local systems. Universal physical connection between all competing telephone companies in Ohio is proposed in the bill which would break down the barrier that now exists between the users of the Bell and Citizens switchboards. The companies would be compelled to inter-change service upon the demand of the subscriber and the provisions of the bill would allow a small fee to be charged against the telephone patron asking connection with the subscriber of another service. This fee, however, would be regulated by the state public utilities commission. If the rival companies could not agree upon a fee, subject to the approval of the commission, then the commission itself would fix the amount of the charge.

A Long Fight.

For a number of years patrons of the two local telephone companies have objected strenuously to being practically forced to use both systems in order to get the desired service. Not long ago a campaign was launched to force the merging of the two companies by commencing a boycott of one of them and using the other exclusively. Indignation meetings were called and action was promised by telephone officials who sought to pacify the citizens. However, nothing came of the matter and the condition has been unchanged.

Need One Phone

Should the Oberlin bill pass, a Coshocton Bell subscriber could obtain connection at his own phone with any subscriber of the Citizens switchboard. The fee for the connection would be charged against his account just as toll service fees are now charged. At given periods the rival companies could clear their accounts much the same as banks do. These details are not specifically set out in the bill, but they represent the ideas of the author of the bill, who has studied the question carefully.

Boon To County.

In outlying sections of large communities where competing phones are widely separated, the bill is expected by its author to remove an abstacle which is now insurmountable. Many telephone users are now debarred from communicating by phone with their friends because the latter have rival service and because such rival has no phones in the immediate vicinity where the one desiring communication lives.

The new proposal is sort of a complement to the recent ruling of the state utilities commission to the effect that all telephone companies must give toll line connection with other companies on demand. The ruling of the commission, however, only affects companies whose business is not competitive.

Excitement
on Chestnut

Harry Morgan was arrested Tuesday on a charge of intoxication. Morgan is unknown here. He and another unknown companion were creating a disturbance on Chestnut street. The police responded to a call sent in by a resident of the district, but Morgan's companion made his escape.

TO COLUMBUS.

Guy C. Doney, of Chestnut street, agent for the New Era check protecting machine, will make a business trip to Columbus today.

Pathetic Case Brought to Light By Salvation Army

One of the most pathetic cases that has been brought to the notice of the Salvation Army and other local charity organizations, came to light Tuesday.

It is that of a young girl, not yet seventeen, who Monday night gave birth to a baby. The event was entirely unexpected in the family, which is very poor and absolutely unprepared to take care of either the infant or mother. Not a stitch of clothing was to be found in the house for the little one and other circumstances surrounding the case are just as pitiful.

Army Investigates.

Capt. Ladlow, of the Salvation Army was notified Tuesday morning and after investigating the case went to the juvenile authorities to have the man, whom the girl asserts is the father of the child, apprehended. He learned that the accused man was confined in the Canton workhouse but was expecting his release, Tuesday. As soon as released he will be rearrested and taken into custody until the case is settled.

Appeals For Aid.

Through The Tribune, Capt. Ladlow makes an appeal to Coshocton people for whatever assistance they can give to the young mother and babe. Donations of baby's clothing will be most acceptable and contributions of money will help greatly in relieving the present situation.

Will Go In Home.

As soon as the girl is able to be moved, Capt. Ladlow says he will send her and the baby to one of the Army's homes either in Cincinnati or Cleveland, where she will be well taken care of until able to care for herself.

Anyone wishing to make contributions of any kind are asked to call Capt. Ladlow, Bell phone 697.

Gross Freed
From Works

Arley Gross, sent to the Canton work house on the charge of chicken-stealing by Mayor Staats last week, was released Tuesday through resolutions adopted by the county commissioners. Mayor Staats recommended that the resolutions be adopted as a thorough investigation of the case proved that the youth was led into the trouble.

Basket Factory
Now Operating

The basket factory at Nellie has resumed operations and is now giving employment to a dozen men. A new stock of timber has been received and, inasmuch as the firm has several large orders on hand, it is thought that it will be operated steadily for some time now.

Trees Must be Trimmed Says
Server Smith

Have you trimmed your trees yet? If you have not, better get busy at once as they must be trimmed before the first of April.

There is an ordinance on the city's books requiring all trees to be trimmed during the month of March so that no limbs are closer than seven feet from the sidewalks, and this ordinance will be enforced this year.

According to Service Director Smith, many complaints have been received from persons saying, that in several places the branches drooped so low that it was scarcely possible to pass beneath without discomfort. This led to the determination to strictly enforce the old ordinance.

Glass Plant
May Install
New Machine

It is rumored that an automatic glass blowing machine will be installed in the local company's plant next week. When asked about the project, Charles Liever declared that he had nothing to say on the matter. However, it is said that six of the employees have been notified that they would be partially relieved of duty as soon as the machine has been placed in operation.

This will be the first machine bottle blower installed in the local plant and if it is a success, it is thought that others will be placed in operation. The machines have been in use at Newark and Zanesville for some time and have proven very satisfactory, so it is presumed that they will soon be installed for the local plant.

Fishing Very Good at Basin

It is time to get your fishing tackle and "go a Fishing." At least the success that attended Burton Call, Robert Huff, James Preston and Clarence Hay would seem to indicate as much.

These four anglers tried their luck at the lower basin Tuesday afternoon, and just seventeen bass formed their catch. Fifteen were of the speckled variety and the other two were of the small mouth black bass species.

Investigation of City Lights
Is Commenced

Because of Council's probe into the lighting of the city's streets, Service Director Smith will make a series of readings of the company's meter in order to determine whether the city is receiving the current service contracted for and thus due.

Council had desired to thus be able to secure a reduction of the total cost of the lighting should the amperage be low, and with this reduction install other lights.

Mr. Smith started his investigation Tuesday night as the reading must be made while the system is in actual use. This will be the first of the series.

Local Men
to Attend Convention

The annual state convention of Methodist Episcopal men will open at Columbus today and will continue in session three days. It is expected that no less than four thousand men will be in attendance representing all of the M. E. churches of Ohio. A program of addresses by bishops and leading figures in the church has been announced.

Among those who expect to attend from this city are: T. L. Montgomery, C. F. Barnes, Dr. Seerest, L. D. Webber, J. E. Magers and D. D. Boyd.

"The Shamrock
And The Green"

"A sprig o' shamrock and a bit o' green" in honor of the patron saint of "Ould Ireland" will be in evidence everywhere today. Surely the heart of the writer of that famous Irish melody, "The Wearing of the Green" would rejoice were it possible to see the manner in which the patron saint of the Emerald Isle is honored in this present day.

Saint Patrick is a semi-mythical personage, an actual personage, around which fact and myth are so closely associated that it is almost impossible to separate fact from fiction. History declares that the real Saint Patrick was an early monk who worked numerous reforms with such good and lasting results, that the natives of the "Ould Sod" now hold him as a much revered saint.

Among the many legends connected with Saint Patrick is the driving of the snakes from Ireland. The myth declares that in that early day the country was infested with the reptiles and their presence was a veritable curse upon the land. By means of his miraculous power, it is claimed Saint Patrick was enabled to drive them out and thus free the land of their hated presence.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

Creditors of the Peacock store are now receiving the first of the final dividends declared by C. B. Smith, the assignee. The dividend amounts to 34 1-2 per cent.

RETURNS HOME.

Mrs. W. Davis, of Keene, has returned from Atlantic City, where she had gone for her health. She is not much improved.

Lelia Shryock of near Randles Bridge, is ill of pneumonia.

Attorney Charles G. Williams, well known young Republican, was appointed Tuesday afternoon as a member of the board of moving picture censors by Governor Willis. The position carries with it a salary of $1,500 per year in addition to traveling expenses. He succeeds Harry E. Vestal who recently resigned from the board.

Williams is the second local attorney to receive a nice state job during the present administration. C. R. Bell was appointed some time ago as special counsel in the attorney general's office.

According to a Columbus dispatch Bert B. Buckley, an attorney of Dayton, was offered the job but refused it with thanks on account of private reasons. The appointment of Williams immediately followed.

Local Friends Jubilant

Attorney Williams is a warm personal friend of Governor Willis and during the recent campaign was one of the leaders who received the credit for changing the Democratic vote to a handsome Republican plurality for the head of the ticket. Immediately after the election the local executive committee endorsed Williams for any position which he might care to apply for and the news of the appointment comes with satisfaction to local Republican leaders. He will assume his duties today.

The position will not require his entire time and he will continue to be an active member of the law firm of Ely & Williams.

New Porch
at County Jail

The county commissioners Tuesday awarded to W. W. Morford the contract for building a new porch on the front of the county sheriff's residence on Chestnut street. Morford's bid of $265.85 was low among three, W. S. Tish and H. J. Richardson being the other bidders.

The porch will add considerably to the appearance of the residence. An iron fence was constructed recently around the jail yard.

How They Sell
Hellos In New York

The New York Telephone Company is a large and aggressive newspaper advertiser.

It advertises its service; it preaches courtesy; it shows new ways of using the telephone.

Now it has taken another step and linked the store windows of the retailers to its newspaper advertising.

Attractive window forms have been gotten out which impress the advantage of ordering by telephone.

The stores are showing the displays, the newspaper advertising is going on, and the business of the telephone is increasing.

The co-operation in this campaign is a striking example of the way the retailer is impressed by advertising in his home newspaper and how he wants to assist in selling the goods.

Deputy United States Marshal Job Is Bone Of Contention

Joe Callahan and Mike
Dwyer Said To Be Local Candidates

Local Democrats and Republicans as well, are watching with interest the alleged fray which may or may not result in a local man being appointed Deputy United States Marshal. The powers that be in local Democratic politics, are alleged to be slightly divided in the matter. Little Jeff McDowell is said to be putting forth his best efforts to secure the appointment of Mike Dwyer for the job. Joe Callahan, just out of a nice state job, is said to be legging for himself.

Deviney Has Appointment.

The appointment is up to Michael Deviney, of Cincinnati, who after a hard fight, was appointed U. S. Marshal for Southern Ohio including forty-five counties. Ten deputies are to be appointed and although several local politicians are confident that Coshocton will be remembered when it comes time to hand out the plums, there seems to be some doubt in the minds of others.

Just One Faction.

It is said that there are no candidates for the deputyship among the members of the Fisher-Compton faction on account of the fact that they were not behind Deviney when he made his fight for the appointment.

According to one story told a Tribune reporter, the situation may result in a split in the county executive committee. Callahan, in addition to having his brother, John, on the committee, has other friends while Little Jeff is a recognized leader. Whether the situation will develop into anything alarming is yet to be determined. There is said to be a possibility that one of the candidates may withdraw without making a fight. However, nothing of this kind has been done yet.

Sentenced to Read Bible in Jail Cell

Johnstown, Pa., March 15.—For permitting a prisoner to leave the jail before completing the reading of three chapters in the Bible, Jack Sheehan, warden of the city prison, was sentenced by Mayor Joseph Cauffiel to read the same three chapters of the book of Corinthians. Sheehan did.

One J. R. Edwards appeared before the mayor on a charge of having inebriated two freely. He was sentenced to read the three chapters aloud, and Warden Sheehan was delegated to listen to see that the sentence was fully complied with.

Sheehan could not stand the prisoner's reading and told him to go, it is alleged. Sheehan was then sentenced to do the reading.

Last Sad Rites for Mrs. Taylor

The same simplicity that was the dominating feature of her life, marked the funeral services for Mrs. Samuel Taylor on Sunday afternoon. No more touching tribute could have been paid her than the large attendance of friends and relatives.

Two of her favorite hymns were read by Dr. J. S. Seerest. Dr. William E. Hunt, in touching words, spoke of her Christian attitude, simplicity of spirit and her devotion to her family.

Those called from other cities to attend the funeral were her daughter, Mrs. G. Dana Thayer, of Columbus; her son William Taylor and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fairall, Mr. Peters, Mr. McCullough, Mr. Crider all of Denison; her only sister, Mrs. B. S. Ammons, of Marion, Ind.; two nephews, Charles and Frank Porter, of Pittsburg; L. G. Child Falls from Bridge

Pittsburg, March 15.—Watching a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad passing beneath the Thirty-third street bridge, Walter Betle, 6-year-old, son of Frank Betle, lost his balance and plunged from the bridge.

Standing on top of one of the box cars was Robert Roundtree, a brakeman, watching the child, who dropped from the railing of the bridge at the exact moment Roundtree was below that point. Instinctively, the brakeman flung out his arms, braced himself and when he recovered his bearings, found himself gripping an urchin who was looking up into his face with wide-eyed wonder. The train was stopped and the boy scampered home.

TELEPHONE WAR MAY BE SETTLED BY SOLONS

Bill Forcing Inter-Change
Of Calls Would Settle Our
Troubles

Citizens User Could Call
For Friend Over Bell Exchange

If a bill which is to be introduced in the House of Representatives by Adam Oberlin, of Stark county, passes, Coshocton's much mooted telephone question will be settled to the satisfaction of many who object to supporting two local systems. Universal physical connection between all competing telephone companies in Ohio is proposed in the bill which would break down the barrier that now exists between the users of the Bell and Citizens switchboards. The companies would be compelled to inter-change service upon the demand of the subscriber and the provisions of the bill would allow a small fee to be charged against the telephone patron asking connection with the subscriber of another service. This fee, however, would be regulated by the state public utilities commission. If the rival companies could not agree upon a fee, subject to the approval of the commission, then the commission itself would fix the amount of the charge.

A Long Fight.
For a number of years patrons of the two local telephone companies have objected strenuously to being practically forced to use both systems in order to get the desired service. Not long ago a campaign was launched to force the merging of the two companies by commencing a boycott of one of them and using the other exclusively. Indignation meetings were called and action was promised by telephone officials who sought to pacify the citizens. However, nothing came of the matter and the condition has been unchanged.

Need One Phone
Should the Oberlin bill pass, a Coshocton Bell subscriber could obtain connection at his own phone with any subscriber of the Citizens switchboard. The fee for the connection would be charged against his account just as toll service fees are now charged. At given periods the rival companies could clear their accounts much the same as banks do. These details are not specifically set out in the bill, but they represent the ideas of the author of the bill, who has studied the question carefully.

Boon To County.
In outlying sections of large communities where competing phones are widely separated, the bill is expected by its author to remove an obstacle which is now insurmountable. Many telephone users are now debarred from communicating by phone with their friends because the latter have rival service and because such rival has no phones in the immediate vicinity where the one desiring communication lives.

The new proposal is sort of a complement to the recent ruling of the state utilities commission to the effect that all telephone companies must give toll line connection with other companies on demand. The ruling of the commission, however, only affects companies whose business is not competitive.

Pathetic Case Brought to Light By Salvation Army

One of the most pathetic cases that has been brought to the notice of the Salvation Army and other local charity organizations, came to light Tuesday.

It is that of a young girl, not yet seventeen, who Monday night gave birth to a baby. The event was entirely unexpected in the family, which is very poor and absolutely unprepared to take care of either the infant or mother. Not a stitch of clothing was to be found in the house for the little one and other circumstances surrounding the case are just as pitiful.

Army Investigates.
Capt. Ladlow, of the Salvation Army was notified Tuesday morning and after investigating the case went to the juvenile authorities to have the man, whom the girl asserts is the father of the child, apprehended. He learned that the accused man was confined in the Canton workhouse but was expecting his release, Tuesday. As soon as released he will be rearrested and taken into custody until the case is settled.

Appeals For Aid.
Through The Tribune, Capt. Ladlow makes an appeal to Coshocton people for whatever assistance they can give to the young mother and babe. Donations of baby's clothing will be most acceptable and contributions of money will help greatly in relieving the present situation.

Will Go In Home.
As soon as the girl is able to be moved, Capt. Ladlow says he will send her and the baby to one of the Army's homes either in Cincinnati or Cleveland, where she will be well taken care of until able to care for herself.

Anyone wishing to make contributions of any kind are asked to call Capt. Ladlow, Bell phone 697.

August 15, 1881. This was also the birthday of his parents, both of whom are graduates of Vermilion Institute at Haysville, which has since become Wooster university.

To California.
The family moved to San Jose, Cal., in 1888 where Mr. Boyd graduated from the grammar and high school. In 1904-05 he was secretary of the Boys' department of the San Jose Y. M. C. A., an association of about 600 members.

Stanford Graduate.
He graduated from Stanford university in 1909, majoring in Economics and Social Science. For two years he was a member of the Varsity Debating team against the State university. He was elected to the Phi Kappa and Phi Alpha Tau, honor fraternities.

Enters Seminary.
In 1909 he entered McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. In 1909-11 he was religious work director of Christopher house settlement and in 1911-12 pastor of Sedwick St. Congregational church. He was called to the pastorate of the South Park Presbyterian church in May, 1912. He was ordained May 24, 1912.

Recently Married.
On July 30, 1912 he was married (Continued On Page 8.)

Fishing Very Good at Basin

It is time to get your fishing tackle and "go a fishing." At least the success that attended Burton Call, Robert Huff, James Preston and Clarence May would seem to indicate as much.

These four anglers tried their luck at the lower basin Tuesday afternoon, and just seventeen bass formed their catch. Fifteen were of the speckled variety and the other two were of the small mouth black bass species.

New Company Organized To Operate Local Alleys

An organization to be known as the Coshocton Bowling Association will be incorporated within the next few days and will take over the pool room and bowling alleys formerly operated by Wisenberg and Corder and recently purchased by Jack Bontley.

The capital stock of the company will be $10,000 which will be owned by these men: Frank Pious, Clarence Johnson, Lewis Quackenbush, Fred Abbott,

Investigation of City Lights Is Commenced

Because of Council's probe into the lighting of the city's streets, Service Director Smith will make a series of readings of the company's meter in order to determine whether the city is receiving the current service contracted for and thus due.

Council had desired to thus be able to secure a reduction of the total cost of the lighting should the amperage be low, and with this reduction install other lights.

Mr. Smith started his investigation Tuesday night as the reading must be made while the system is in actual use. This will be the first of the series.

Local Men to Attend Convention

The annual state convention of Methodist Episcopal men will open at Columbus today and will continue in session three days. It is expected that no less than four thousand men will be in attendance representing all of the M. E. churches of Ohio. A program of addresses by bishops and leading figures in the church has been announced.

Among those who expect to attend from this city are: T. L. Montgomery, C. F. Barnes, Dr. Seerest, I. D. Webber, J. E. Magers and D. D. Boyd.

"The Shamrock And The Green"

"A sprig o' shamrock and a bit o' green" in honor of the patron saint of "Ould Ireland" will be in evidence everywhere today. Surely the heart of the writer of that famous Irish melody, "The Wearing of the Green" would rejoice were it possible to see the manner in which the patron saint of the Emerald Isle is honored in this present day.

Saint Patrick is a semi-mythical personage, an actual personage, around which fact and myth are so closely associated that it is almost impossible to separate fact from fiction. History declares that the real Saint Patrick was an early monk who worked numerous reforms with such good and lasting results, that the natives of the "Ould Sod" now hold him as a much revered saint.

Among the many legends connected with Saint Patrick is the driving of the snakes from Ireland. The myth declares that in that early day the country was infested with the reptiles and their presence was a veritable curse upon the land. By means of his miraculous power, it is claimed Saint Patrick was enabled to drive them out and thus free the land of their hated presence.

Deputy United States Marshal Job Is Bone Of Contention

Joe Callahan and Mike Dwyer Said To Be Local Candidates

Local Democrats and Republicans as well, are watching with interest the alleged fray which may or may not result in a local man being appointed Deputy United States Marshal. The powers that be in local Democratic politics, are alleged to be slightly divided in the matter. Little Jeff McDowell is said to be putting forth his best efforts to secure the appointment of Mike Dwyer for the job. Joe Callahan, just out of a nice state job, is said to be legging for himself.

Deviney Has Appointment.
The appointment is up to Michael Deviney, of Cincinnati, who after a hard fight, was appointed U. S. Marshal for Southern Ohio including forty-five counties. Ten deputies are to be appointed and although several local politicians are confident that Coshocton will be remembered when it comes time to hand out the plums, there seems to be some doubt in the minds of others.

Just One Faction.
It is said that there are no candidates for the deputyship among the members of the Fisher-Compton faction on account of the fact that they were not behind Deviney when he made his fight for the appointment.

According to one story told a Tribune reporter, the situation may result in a split in the county executive committee. Callahan, in addition to having his brother, John, on the committee, has other friends while Little Jeff is a recognized leader. Whether the situation will develop into anything alarming is yet to be determined. There is said to be a possibility that one of the candidates may withdraw without making a fight. However, nothing of this kind has been done yet.

Husband Granted Divorce

On the ground of willful absence for more than three years, Allen C. Cooksey was granted a divorce from Jessie B. Cooksey by Judge Ashman in probate court Tuesday. They were married December 24, 1890, and have no children.

The defendant failed to file any answer or demurrer to the petition filed by the plaintiff.

Stock Judging Contest for Keene Schools

An educational exhibit for the Keen township schools will be held Friday March 19, when a stock judging contest will be one of the most interesting events. It is planned to have the boys score horses and cattle. After they have made their scores an expert will score the stock pointing out all of the various things which must be taken into consideration. Other exhibits of this kind will be held in different townships within the next few months and much interest is being taken by residents of Keene township.

How They Sell

Hellos In New York

The New York Telephone Company is a large and aggressive newspaper advertiser.

It advertises its service; it preaches courtesy; it shows new ways of using the telephone.

Now it has taken another step and linked the store windows of the retailers to its newspaper advertising.

Attractive window forms have been gotten out which impress the advantage of ordering by telephone.

The stores are showing the displays, the newspaper advertising is going on, and the business of the telephone is increasing.

The co-operation in this campaign is a striking example of the way the retailer is impressed by advertising in his home newspaper and how he wants to assist in selling the goods.

Sentenced to Read Bible in Jail Cell

Johnstown, Pa., March 15.—For permitting a prisoner to leave the jail before completing the reading of three chapters in the Bible, Jack Sheehan, warden of the city prison, was sentenced by Mayor Joseph Cauffiel to read the same three chapters of the book of Corinthians. Sheehan did.

One J. R. Edwards appeared before the mayor on a charge of having inebriated too freely. He was sentenced to read the three chapters aloud, and Warden Sheehan was delegated to listen to see that the sentence was fully complied with.

Sheehan could not stand the prisoner's reading and told him to go, it is alleged. Sheehan was then sentenced to do the reading.

Last Sad Rites for Mrs. Taylor

The same simplicity that was the dominating feature of her life, marked the funeral services for Mrs. Samuel Taylor on Sunday afternoon. No more touching tribute could have been paid her than the large attendance of friends and relatives.

Two of her favorite hymns were read by Dr. J. S. Seerest. Dr. William E. Hunt, in touching words, spoke of her Christian attitude, simplicity of spirit and her devotion to her family.

Those called from other cities to attend the funeral were her daughter, Mrs. G. Dana Thayer, of Columbus; her son William Taylor and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Fairall, Mr. Peters, Mr. McCullough, Mr. Crider all of Denison; her only sister, Mrs. B. S. Ammons, of Marion, Ind.; two nephews, Charles and Frank Porter, of Pittsburg; L. G. Wilcox and son William, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Knodel, of Steubenville; George Taylor, of Cincinnati; Miss Judy and John Judy, of Columbus.

Child Falls from Bridge

Pittsburg, March 15.—Watching a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad passing beneath the Thirty-third street bridge, Walter Betle, 6-year-old, son of Frank Betle, lost his balance and plunged from the bridge.

Standing on top of one of the box cars was Robert Roundtree, a brakeman, watching the child, who dropped from the railing of the bridge at the exact moment Roundtree was below that point. Instinctively, the brakeman flung out his arms, braced himself and when he recovered his bearings, found himself gripping an urchin who was looking up into his face with wide-eyed wonder. The train was stopped and the boy scampered home.

SORE THROAT OFTEN A SIGN OF DANGER

A common sore throat neglected may lead to pneumonia, quinsy or chronic throat troubles. And a twenty-five-cent investment in Hoff's German Liniment may save the price of a tombstone. Everyone should know that Hoff's German Liniment makes a fine gargle and can be used freely for sore throat with quick results. It can be taken internally for coughs, colds, croup, etc. Thousands of mothers appreciate Hoff's German Liniment for relieving children's ailments. They know that there is nothing like Hoff's German Liniment for stopping pain. Made from white cream of camphor cream with other pure, harmless, effective ingredients. Everyone knows that camphorated oil rubbed on the chest is good for cold on the lungs, etc. The only objection to it is that it leaves the pores open, making one a waiting victim for the next attack of cold. Hoff's German Liniment keeps the pores closed—keeps colds out.

All druggists sell Hoff's German Liniment—a quarter pint for a quarter, large family size, 50c. We absolutely guarantee results and authorize your druggist to return your money if dissatisfied. There is only one genuine Hoff's German Liniment. Beware of substitutes. Don't let a sort throat finger—sometimes leads to pneumonia, diphtheria, etc. Apply at once a little of Hoff's German Liniment and note the quick results.

SAY DETECTIVES WATCH SOLONS

Threats of Investigation of Activities of Lobby.

Columbus, March 16.—It is alleged a number of legislators who have been accepting the hospitalities of freespending lobbyists showed extreme nervousness when it became known that detectives have been trailing them for several weeks. One of the detectives worked on the legislative bribery cases of four years ago, which resulted in many indictments, four of the indicted men later going to the penitentiary. It is not known yet who is paying the detectives now on the job.

In addition, working "on their own looks" in shadowing legislators and lobbyists, are several men who came to Columbus to champion meritorious legislation. Finding they could get no action on their bills and charging that lobbyists for selfish interests were keeping the bills in committee pigeonholes, they turned amateur detectives and have been gathering information relative to "high jinks" that have marked the last few weeks.

Coupled with this there were threats from several legislators that they would demand a legislative investigation of lobby activities.

Attorney General Turner is keeping close tab on registered and unregistered lobbyists. He has a list of power games that are said to be conducted by lobbyists and makes it his business to find out personally the history of bills introduced in the legislature. It is known that Senator Howard of Belmont county, Republican floor leader and president pro tem of the senate, has been vigorously insisting to his colleagues that they accept no favors of any kind from lobbyists.

Does Away With Ag. Supervisors.
Columbus, March 16.—Representative Reighart's bill, doing away with agricultural supervisors and placing their duties in the hands of county superintendents, passed the senate by a vote of 20 to 13. The measure now awaits the governor's signature. It is claimed the state will save $12,000 a year by this action.

MAYO'S TROUBLES INCREASE.
Arrested on Complaint of Stenographer and Placed Under Bond.
New Haven, Conn., March 16.—On the complaint of Susanna M. E. Wahlers, twenty-two, of this city, Virginius J. Mayo was arrested and is held in bonds of $1,000 to appear in court on Saturday morning next.

Miss Wahlers, who was at one time a stenographer in the office of the Mayo Radiator company, alleged in the papers on which Mayo was arrested that Mayo is the father of her child, born in 1913. She appeals to the court that Mayo support the baby.

This is the first known definite action looking to the prosecution of Mayo since his stenographer, Lillian Cook, was found dead on top of West Rock, four miles from this city, two weeks ago.

Deputy Sheriff Gustav Uhl, with the document for Mayo's arrest, went out to the radiator company office and there found Mayo at work. He gave

Treasury Officials Are Perplexed

Washington, Mar. 16.—The treasury department has thrown up the sponge in its struggle to interpret the esoteric income tax law. The sooner the United States supreme court construes every paragraph, phrase and word in this remarkable statute the more pleased will be Secretary McAdoo and his tax experts.

Six cases are in the courts involving construction of the more important provisions of the law, principally those specifying the deductions which the taxpayer is permitted to make from his gross income in order to arrive at his taxable net income. The deductions over which there is the greatest dispute relate to losses "incurred in trade."

Would Hasten Matters
The treasury department has asked the department of justice to interpose no obstruction which will prolong the progress of these cases to the supreme court. There would be joy unbounded in the internal revenue bureau if the cases could be laid on the supreme court doorstep before next fall so that decisions might be obtained during the next term of court.

Internal revenue officials would like to know how the court construes the words "in trade." Thousands of taxpayers are able to show so many losses incurred in trade that they have no income left to tax. The department has ruled that investments are not trade, and have not permitted individuals to deduct losses on speculations in stocks, bonds, grain, cotton, etc. It has, however, permitted brokers in these speculative commodities to deduct losses on such investments. Gains on speculative investments are held subject to the tax.

Hundreds of lawyers have appeared before the treasury officials arguing against the rulings and then have sought relief in the courts.

Dr. McClain spent Tuesday in consultation, at West Lafayette.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring back color, thickness and lustre—Everybody is using it again.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appears years younger.

THOROUGH WORK

How a Coshocton Citizen Found Freedom From Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—From urinary disorders—Any curable disease of the kidneys.

Use a tested kidney remedy. Dean's Kidney Pills have been tested by thousands.

Coshocton people testify. Can you ask more convincing proof of merit?

F. W. Cochran, retired farmer, 511 Chestnut St., Coshocton, says: "Kidney complaint came on me all of a sudden and I thought it was harmless. I was in bad shape. At night I had to get up often to pass the kidney secretions, and in the morning I was all tired out. The secretions also contained sediment. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Dean's Kidney Pills finally completely cured of kidney trouble and I haven't had any return attack."

Beats Queen Elizabeth.

In size and gun power, the Pennsylvania is greater even than the Queen Elizabeth of the British navy, which led the recent terrific assault of the allies on the forts of the Dardanelles. While the British monster carries larger guns, her main battery is only two-thirds the size of that of the Pennsylvania in number and the American battleship is 3000 tons greater in size.

The main battery of the Pennsylvania will consist of twelve 12-inch 45-caliber rifles, set in four turrets, three guns to a turret, the plan of big gun arrangement adopted in the sister ships which preceded her, the Nevada and Oklahoma.

Her tonnage measurement is 31,400 against 27,500 for the Nevada and Oklahoma and the Queen Elizabeth. The latter, however, carries eight 15-inch rifles, 45-caliber, set two to a turret, while the Nevada and Oklahoma have ten 14-inch rifles, each in two 3-gun and two 2-gun turrets. In all these ships, including the Pennsylvania, the turrets are all on the center line to concentrate their fire on either broadside.

In All The World No Trip Like This

It's almost a man's duty as an educational process, to take his family, while the railroad fares to California have been cut in two and visit the great Expositions at San Francisco and San Diego, seeing on the way out the marvelous Mountain Scenery of Colorado—Denver, Colorado Springs, Pikes Peak, Pueblo, the stupendous and world-famous Royal Gorge, and Salt Lake City. Then you should return by way of the North Pacific Coast and either Glacier or Yellowstone National Park. You will never have the same opportunity and if you use the through Pullman service of the Burlington Route (C. & N. W. R.) or join one of those comfortable, economical and care-free Personally Conducted Excursions, you can see the wonders of Colorado without extra cost, for you will pass all those most interesting points by daylight. Don't forget that. Here's the ideal. Sit right down and write me how many expect to make the trip, just when you want to go, the points you want to visit, how long you expect to stay, and I will plan a trip especially fitted to your time and needs—then you will know all about it. If you decide to go, I will make arrangements for your complete trip, and reserve sleeping berths, when the time comes for you to start. Write today—before you forget it.

Aged Couple Known Here

A Mitchell, South Dakota, paper contains an interesting account of the life of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius McNary, brother and sister-in-law of Isaac McNary, of Orange street, this city.

They are the oldest married couple in Mitchell and possibly in the state. Mr. McNary will round out ninety-five years of life the first of next September and Mrs. McNary completed her ninety-first year in March. The advanced age of the couple is scarcely less remarkable than the degree of health which they both enjoy.

Natives Of New York.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McNary were born in New York, the former at Fishkill, which is also the birth place of Isaac McNary. Mrs. McNary was born in Freehold, Greene county. They were married in 1848 and moved at once to Wisconsin where they lived for forty years, when they moved to Hanson county, South Dakota and last fall moved into Mitchell when their house was burned down.

A Large Family.

Eleven children were born to the couple, two of whom died in childhood. In counting their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and those added to the family by marriage, over one hundred names would have to be mentioned. To be exact there are one hundred and seven.

Says No One Need Remain Thin Now

Physician's Advice For Thin, Underdeveloped Men and Women.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and it also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co., and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

are justly proud. The father, Joseph McNary, fought in the war of 1812. The grandfathers of both Mr. and Mrs. McNary were soldiers in the Revolutionary war and a number of their brothers fought in the Civil war. Ill health prevented Mr. McNary himself from taking part in this conflict.

Except those who were killed in battle the members of the McNary family have all been long lived, most of them, being octogenarians and several of them, like Cornelius McNary being nonagenarians. Isaac McNary, of Coshocton is eighty-three and is still hale and hearty.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Baad, of Pine street, a baby girl.

"After having used the Geo. P. Bent Grand exclusively in my recital work for the past three years, I am more than ever of the opinion that your Grand Piano is absolutely satisfactory to both Artist and Public.

"Its remarkably beautiful tone, perfectly balanced throughout the entire keyboard; its even and responsive touch, which adequately meets the highest technical demands; and the grace and beauty of the instrument as an example of artistic craftsmanship: these qualities make the Geo. P. Bent Grand an Art Piano of the first order. It has so satisfied me, my audiences and my pupils, that I am sincerely enthusiastic over its splendid combination of qualities, and offer you my congratulations upon its success. Concert By Glee Club Is Appreciated

Assisted by Rolla W. Cochran, reader; the Apollo quartet; Miss Mae Tish, violinist and Wade Rinehart, accompanist, the Girls Glee club, under the direction of Miss Helen McFarland, gave a highly appreciated concert at the Central high school auditorium, Tuesday evening.

Eighty members of the club made a charming picture as the curtain was raised. Dressed in white, the necessary touches of color were given by gay-toned ribbons in girdles and hair bows. And the whole was set off by the background of green in the well-lit auditorium.

"Voices of the Woods," Rubenstein, opened the program and gave the audience the clue to the excellent quality of the entertainment which was to follow. The Apollo Male Quartet: Messrs. Strasser, Barnes, Drake and Reed, followed with "Loves Old Sweet Song," always a favorite, and sung by the young men in an unusually impressive way. Other numbers sung by the quartet were "Life's Dream," and "The Sword of Ferrara." To each of these they gave well selected encores.

The quartet has been much in demand during the last few weeks and that they are appreciated by Coshocton people was demonstrated by the hearty applause they received upon every appearance. The young men are preparing to do some Chautauqua work the coming summer and it goes without saying that their success is assured.

Beautifully presented was the violin solo by Miss Mae Tish, a local artist of rare ability. "Sourvenir," by Franz Drala, was her first number, an encore being responded to with the ever pleasing, "Romance," by Dvorak.

Holla W. Cochran, of the Boston School of Oratory, gave variety to the program in his series of readings. The first group of Italian dialect, consisting of, "Between Two Loves," "Mia Carlotta," and "Da Leetle Boy." The second group was two numbers from Rudyard Kipling, "Mandalay," and "Gunga Din."

Miss Genevieve Kerlin, a member of the chorus, gave a special number, "A May Morning," by L. Denza. Miss Kerlin's rich clear soprano voice was splendid in the selection and the encore following. Another special number was by the Girl's Double Quartet, "An Autumn Lullaby."

"The Spring Song," by McFalls, and "The Bridal Chorus," from "Rose Maiden," were other numbers sung by the club. In every number the club was splendid and showed the result of weeks of training under excellent direction.

To the accompanist, Wade Rinehart, is due a large portion of the success of the concert. In his accompaniments and solo numbers Mr. Rinehart displayed the characteristics of a real piano artist. He was showered with a burst of applause at the conclusion of his solo number, "Butterfly," and responded with, "To The Sea," by McDowell, as an encore.

An audience almost filling the auditorium enjoyed the concert and all were profuse in their comments upon the excellence of the program and the manner in which it was presented.

Quickly Relieves Without Distress

The congestion of waste and refuse from the stomach, fermenting in the bowels, generates poisonous gases that occasion distress and invite serious illness. Health and comfort demand that this congestion be speedily relieved and the foul mass expelled.

The well-founded objection most people have to the violence of cathartic and purgative agents is overcome by using the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A dose at night brings relief next morning, without discomfort or inconvenience. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."

Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

Cascarets for Your Bowels if Headachy, Sick

Get a 10-cent box.

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters which merely force a passage through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your "insides" pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry on of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take Cascarets now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Severe Colds, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

Wedding at Mohler Home

Elegant simplicity will mark the nuptials of Miss Gladys Verno Mohler and Clement H. Shaw, which will be solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mohler, in Canal Lewisville at 10 o'clock this morning.

Forty guests, members of the two families and a few intimate friends, have been invited to witness the ceremony which will be performed by Rev. G. F. Stamm, pastor of the Canal Lewisville M. E. church. Miss Madge Mohler will be her sister's maid of honor and Fred Karr, of Canal Lewisville will be Mr. Shaw's best man. The bride's wedding gown is fashioned of chiffon and lace cloth and she will carry white carnations. Her maid will wear a gown of white broadcloth and her bouquet will also be carnations. Miss Lillian Mohler, also a sister of the bride will play the wedding march.

After the ceremony, dinner will be served, the decorations of the tables following out the color scheme of the house decorations, pink and white. Carnations will be used, interspersed with ferns.

Mr. Shaw and his bride will leave in the afternoon for a honeymoon trip to Pittsburg and enroute home will stop for a visit with friends in Canton. Miss Mohler's going away suit is of navy blue gabardine with hat to match.

The bride is one of the attractive daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mohler, of Canal Lewisville. She is a musician of extraordinary ability and has appeared in a number of recitals and musical entertainments in Coshocton, as well as at her home. She is a graduate of the Canal Lewisville high school.

Mr. Shaw is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Shaw, of West Lafayette. He is a farmer and is rapidly gaining an enviable reputation as a progressive agriculturist. He is located on a farm near West Lafayette where he and his bride will go to housekeeping immediately upon their return. He is a graduate of the West Lafayette high school and also of the agriculture department of the West Lafayette college.

Sewing Party Attractive Affair.
Mrs. Charles Ransom, Mrs. Russell Haddon and Mrs. Chester Smith were joint hostesses in one of the enjoyable social affairs of the month, at the home of Mrs. Ransom, on Mulberry street, Tuesday afternoon.

Seventy-five guests enjoyed the hospitality of the hostesses, spending the hours in sewing. At five o'clock a two course supper of attractive appointment was served. Assisting in the hospitalities of the occasion were: Mrs. R. Q. Baker, Mrs. Delva Metzler, Mrs. W. W. Shaw, Mrs. W. W. March, Mrs. Harry Hunt, Mrs. Carl Herbig, Mrs. B. F. Cotta, and Mrs. Karl Hing.

On Thursday the same hostesses will entertain with a bridge lunch on at Mrs. Ransom's home.

COSHOCTON MORNING TRIBUNE
 An Independent Daily Newspaper

THE AMERICAN IDEA

Recently a Wyoming farmer shipped a car load of horses to Kansas City. He was offered a good price for the entire lot by a dealer who seemed to be doing a brisk business. Just as he was about to close with him the farmer learned that the prospective buyer was the agent of one of the warring European governments.

He immediately called the deal off saying that the horses should be returned to the Wyoming farms before they should be consigned to the war zone there to be crippled and maimed and killed. He declared he would resist conscription in war himself, as he did not believe in murder and that he would never knowingly send a horse to a fate he shunned himself.

Similar instances have been cited in other states. It is a fair index of the new American character. We believe the men of America are just as courageous, just as patriotic and would make as good soldiers as the men of any other nation. But they have moved up a notch. They occupy a higher plane than the men of Europe. They breathe a different atmosphere. They have been born under different institutions. They have learned, or have partially learned, a lesson that the men of Europe will some day have to learn, if they expect to keep pace with us of the new world.

There is no national folly quite equal to the folly of war. There is no national burden like that of war. America may be too mercenary to fight, as some of our European critics say, but the action of these farmers belie that statement. We have simply got to the place in the course of national development where, if we are not too good to go to war, we are at least too smart to do so, and the result is all the same.

And when Europe gets through the species of insanity that now afflicts her she may grudgingly admit to having learned another lesson from the western world.

BLUE GRASS

By Walt Mason

The blue grass seed I sow, in sorrow, for I know that other seed will thrive, indeed, but this will never grow. The cockle-burs will thrive, and all weeds keep alive, but my blue grass will die, alas, and me to anguish drive. It takes a hundred years to raise a dozen spears; I sow and sow, in grief and woe, and wet the seed with tears. For long hours every day I take the hose and spray the fertile land where I had planned a gorgeous lawn and gay. In vain! the seed I sowed around my cheap abode just rots and dies, confound its eyes, and hence this mournful ode. The gentle winds of spring the tall bull-thistles bring; the fox-tails thrive in blocks of five, the milkweeds dance and sing. The luscious springtime rain brings herbage to the plain; the burdock's there, so rich and rare, the mullein thrives again. But grass seeds never sprout; they're always down and out; I've sown a ton, and now I'm done—next year I'll sow some kraut.

Beitler Bill
Is Expected
To Pass Senate

The Beitler measure repealing the Warnes tax law, is expected to pass the Senate this afternoon and Tax Commissioner D. O. Thompson along with the district commissioners in the remaining counties of the state, will be out of a job.

The measure has been held up for some time in the Senate committee it having passed the House several weeks ago. The measure carries with it the emergency clause and provides that until the proposed taxation law becomes effective, the taxing assessors shall be appointed by the county auditors. When the new law becomes effective the assessors will again be elected. This was one of the pledges made by the Republicans during the recent campaign and farmers throughout the county who were against the system of not being allowed to elect their tax assessors, receive the news with a great deal of pleasure despite the fact that a large amount of property has been added to the local tax duplicate through the Warnes law.

Spurns Fortune
to Become Monk

Patterson, N. J., Mar. 16.—Maurice E. Finn, formerly a wealthy California lawyer, who entered the Franciscan monastery of St. Bonaventura as a postulant a year ago, made profession of simple vows in the order of Friars' Minor today and entered on a four years' course for the priesthood. The vows are those of chastity, poverty and obedience, but his profession does not necessitate as yet the disposition of the fortune he reputed to possess. He retains the right to it and may dispose of it as he chooses within the next few years before he takes the solemn vows, or turn it over to the order at that profession.

Mr. Finn is 35 years old, the son of the late W. E. Finn, once mayor of Sutter Creek, Cal., the center of the gold rush. He studied at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.; Boston University and Johns Hopkins.

Last Rites for
Joseph Tredway

The funeral services of Joseph Tredway, held at the home near Warsaw, Monday, were largely attended. The body was laid to rest in the Valleyview cemetery.

Attending from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Ulrich, of Kirkville, Mo.; T. F. Tredway, of Springfield; J. E. Greer and Miss Dona Greer, of Danville; Edwin Greer and E. P. Greer, of Greersville; Mrs. C. E. Brown, of Chicago; Miss Grace Nichols, of Lorain.

Rev. W. E. Miller, was in charge of the service.

CHANCE FOR PROMOTION.

Carnegie Company Asks Employees to Live Right and Moral Lives.
Pittsburgh, March 16.—In notices enclosed in the envelopes of its thousands of employees at frequent intervals the Carnegie Steel company has undertaken to point out to every workman that those employees "living right and moral" lives have the preference in promotions and also to show how much safer the employee is by clean living while away from the mills. One folder shows the relative chance for promotion of the workman who lives a good moral life over the one who does not. A second folder gives a chart and advice in the use of intoxicating liquors, and already changes are being reported about the homes of the workmen and among their families to various officials, it is said.

EITEL TO MAKE REPAIRS.

German Ambassador Asks Permission of State Department.
Washington, March 16.—Formal notice that the Prinz Elfridrich is a war vessel of the German government accompanied by the request that she be permitted to make necessary repairs at Newport News, where she now is, has been received at the state department from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador.

The ambassador's statement did not take up the case of the William P. Frye, the American ship sunk by the German cruiser. It was regarded merely as compliance with the formalities in the case. The state department is still awaiting both the report of the naval board on the extent of repairs necessary in the boiler and engine rooms of the cruiser and also a statement from the owners of the Frye as to the amount of damages they wish to claim.

The note to the German government in which the American case will be stated is being prepared at the state department, and will go forward in a few days if the German government is not heard from in the meantime. Repudiation of the cruiser's action and adequate damages will be asked by the United States.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples are Impurities Seeking an Outlet Through Skin Pores.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very vessels which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break out all over the skin in form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

BOSTON WOOL

Boston, March 16.—Transactions in wool are slightly increased, but are necessarily small because of the limited quantity of domestic now on hand. Sales to manufacturers have been in larger volume and have been at full former prices in all cases. Speculation has quieted down and there is less heard of this sort of trading. Great interest is taken in the new clip and efforts are being made by Boston dealers to induce growers to make contracts. But success so far has not been great as the latter quote extreme terms. In Montana and a few other sections a little has been done, mostly in medium clips, but altogether it is estimated, that not over 3,000,000 pounds have been contracted to date.

The Maid of the Forest

A Romance of St. Clair's Defeat

By Randall Parrish

Illustrated by D. J. Lavin

[Copyright, 1913, by A. C. McClure & Co.]

CHAPTER I—Joseph Hayward, an emigrant in the United States army on his way to Fort Hammar, meets Simon Girty, a renegade whose name has been connected with all manner of atrocities, also headed for Fort Hammar with a message from the British general, Hamilton. Hayward guides him to the fort and protects him from a number of scouts who tried to kill him.

CHAPTER II—At General Hammar's headquarters Hayward meets Rene D'Auray, who professes to recognize him, although he has no recollection of ever having seen her before.

CHAPTER III—Hayward volunteers to carry a message for Hammar to Sandusky where Hamilton is stationed. The north-west Indian tribes are ready for war and are only held back by the refusal of the friendly Wyandots to join. The latter are demanding the return of Wa-pa-tah-tah, a religious teacher whom they believe to be a prisoner. Hayward's mission is to assure the Wyandots that the man is not held by the soldiers. Hammar impresses on Hayward the necessity of reaching Hamilton before Girty.

CHAPTER IV—Rene asks Hayward to let her accompany him. She tells him that she is a quarter-blood Wyandot and a missionary among the Indians. She has been in search of her father. She insists that she has seen Hayward before, but in a British uniform. Hayward starts for the north accompanied by a scout named Brady and a private soldier.

CHAPTER V—They come on the trail of a war party and, to escape from the Indians, take shelter in a hut on an island. Hayward finds a murdered man in the hut.

CHAPTER VI—It proves to be Rene D'Auray, a former French officer, who is called by the Wyandots "white chief." Rene appears and Hayward is puzzled by her insistence that they have met before.

CHAPTER VII—Rene recognizes the murdered man as her father, who was known among the Indians as Wa-pa-tah-tah.

CHAPTER VIII—She tells Hayward her father was exiled from the French court and had spent his life among the Indians converting them to Christianity.

CHAPTER IX—Brady reports seeing a band of marauding Indians in the vicinity and with them Simon Girty. Brady's evidence convinces the girl that there is a French officer by the name of Hayward who resembles the American.

CHAPTER X—Finding escape from the island cut off Hayward and his companions prepare to resist an attack from the Indians.

CHAPTER XI—Reconnoitering around the cabin at night Hayward discovers a white man in a British uniform and leaves him for dead, after a desperate fight.

I pressed back the wooden shutter, kneeling to look out. For an instant, blinded by the bright light, I saw nothing, then, back in the edge of the timber, I could dimly distinguish the groups of savages, stripped for fighting, their naked bodies gleaming. I knew little then of Indian warfare, yet it occurred to me that the representatives of each tribe were gathered together, and I watched the war-bonnets moving from group to group, as final orders were passed among them. Only once did I catch a glimpse of the red jacket, as its wearer stood at the foot of a huge tree, suddenly outlined by a ray of sun finding opening through the leaves above. As I caught view of him, he flung up one red arm, a rifle grasped in his hand, and as if it was a signal, voice after voice whooped in savage yell, the noise blending into one fierce scream, horrible and menacing. Above even this mad volume of sound there was a shout of command, emphasized by the discharge of a dozen guns. Then out of the smoke, springing forth into the open, I saw the devils come. It was as if hell had broken down and loosed them forth.

Leaping into the air, shrieking, gestulating, weapons uplifted, red skins gleaming in the sun, black hair streaming in the wind, they sprang forward, racing straight across the open.

"Shawnees!" roared Brady. "Give it to 'em!" and he pulled trigger.

Describe what followed no man could. It was pandemonium, uproar, action, no two seconds the same I fired twice, three times, leaping back to grasp a gun from the bench, and groping my way through smoke. My eyes smarted, perspiration streamed down my face, I heard the bark of rifles, voices calling within, wild echoing yells without. Over the barrel of my rifle I could distinguish the naked forms of savages leaping amid the smoke wreaths, stumbling, clutching at the air with empty hands. Then all at once they disappeared, vanished as if by magic. Smoke clung to the ground, yet amid its swirls I could perceive no movement; the fierce yelling ceased. What this sudden cessation meant I could not guess, but my hand reached instinctively for powder and ball. Then another yell, louder, more deadly with ferocity, smote my ears; bullets clung into the logs, some one near me gave utterance to a roar of pain, and blows crashed against the barred door. I thrust my rifle forward—a tomahawk struck the protruding barrel as I pulled trigger, and I was flung backward to the floor, blood streaming from my shoulder. I could hardly breathe in the thick smoke. I could see nothing, yet out of the babel of noise I was conscious of Brady's voice yelling an order:

"The door! Barricade the door!"

I staggered to my feet and dragged the bench forward, some one gripped the table along with me, and together we hurried it on top, our bodies holding it there. I had dropped my rifle, but some one thrust another into my hands. Blood streaming down into my eyes from a cut on my forehead, blinding me so I saw nothing, yet my fingers touched a hand. Even then I felt the thrill of that contact.

"You, Rene! Go back! For God's sake, go back!" I sobbed breathlessly. Just an instant she grasped me, clung to me, her head pressing against my sleeve.

"Yes, monsieur."

Then she was gone; I reached out for her, but she was no longer there. Tomahawks crashed into the wood of the door; there was a sound of splintering. Brady ripped out an oath, a wild yell of triumph echoed without. Through a nearby loop-hole some savage thrust his gun, and fired blindly, the sudden flash lighting the murk. In the instant red glow I caught a glimpse of the interior—of a body lying before the fireplace, of Schultz still on his knees, rifle in hand, of Brady gripping an ax, his head bare, a ghastly wound on the side of his face. Then the smoke hid all.

Something crashed against the door, shaking the whole cabin; again and again the blow fell, the tough wood bursting asunder, the stout bar bending, yet snapping back once more as the sockets held. Amid the din of shouts, the crash of wood, my eyes met Brady's.

"You're hurt?"

"Ay!" spitting out blood before he could answer. "Jaw shot. Where's the French girl?"

I jerked my hand back in gesture. "With her father's body, I reckon; she promised me to keep out of it."

"Good," his eyes smiling in spite of the intense pain of his wound. "This is like to be our last fight, boy. Do you hear that? Another blow as hard, and those devils will be at us. Don't quit until you die."

"I know," and I reached out my hand to him. His eyes were cool, grimly smiling, and the clasp of his fingers like a vise.

"We are men," he said slowly. "Don't forget, lad. They will know about this sometime down on the Ohio—here the fiends come!"

The door crashed in, the great butt of a tree coming with it, and half blocking the passage. All that remained was instantly filled with savage figures. Into the mass of them I fired my last shot, the flame of discharge searing the hideous faces. Then I was hurled to the right, shoulder to shoulder with Schultz, gripping my gun barrel with both hands, swinging it like a flail. I crushed the skull of a savage, drove the butt into the face of another, saw the flash of a tomahawk, held up for an instant the soldier's reeling body, only to throw it aside; smashed the red hand held out to grip him as he went down; drew back a step in search of more room, and, with one mighty sweep of my weapon cleared a circle before me. God! It was ghastly, inhuman, devilish! Those behind pushed and yelled; there was no escape! I saw painted faces, naked shoulders; wild eyes glared hatred into mine; tomahawk and knife flashed. The butt of my gun smashed, I gripped the iron, my teeth clinched, and blood on fire. I had no sense of fear left, no consciousness of peril. I wanted to strike, to kill, to bruise those hideous faces, to batter them into pulp. The rage of conflict seized me; there swept over me the ferocity of the insane.

GERMAN MINISTER TALKS.

Germany to Continue War Until She Gets What She Wants.

Amsterdam, March 16.—The German minister of the interior and vice-chancellor, Clemens Delbrueck, declared in a speech in the upper chamber of the Prussian diet Germany's intention to continue the war until she obtained the guarantees she desired.

"If we were satisfied merely with repelling the enemy," said the vice-chancellor, "we would soon have peace. But we can not rest satisfied with that alone, we shall not sheathe the sword until we obtain guarantees that our enemies will not attack us again."

"Our enemies have been repeatedly defeated by our unconquerable troops," continued the vice-chancellor, "and they are now going to try to starve us, waging war against our women and children, instead of our armies and fleets."

"France wants the provinces she lost in '71; Russia wants to make a province of Prussia; England wants to destroy German commerce and sea power. But what our enemies have accomplished—the loss of the greater part of our colonies—is without decisive influence on the war."

"On the other hand, Belgium, a great industrial section of France, and part of Russian Poland are in our possession. There are no enemies on German soil; all their efforts to crush

People of Tampico Starving.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—General Carranza has but 1,000 men at Tampico and these have commandeered all of the launches and small boats in the harbor and are ready for flight, according to an American who has arrived here from that port. He says the people of Tampico are starving. General Trevino is in command of the port.
